SEED OATS!

Recommended Varieties:

TALL OATS for Medium to Low Fertility Soils —

1. ANDREWS — CERTIFIED — Similar to Columbia in maturity and height but has stronger straw. Highest yielding oat tested in Mo. for an average of 22 tests in 1949 and has made highest yield of any commercial oat for 4 years average in Missouri. Has wide adaptability and should replace Columbias in all areas due to its high yields, stronger straw and much greater resistance to various diseases. We feel it will definitely pay to sow Certified Andrews in spite of the price difference.
2. COLUMBIAS — The old standby for medium to low fertility soils. Early maturity and high in test weight; however, it is susceptible to most oat diseases and probably will be replaced in popularity by Andrews and other resistant oats in the next few years.

SHORT-STRAW OATS for Fertile Soils —

1. CLINTON — Very popular, short-strawed yellow oat for fertile or highly fertilized soils.
2. CLINTON II — Similar to Clinton but is more uniform and shows more disease resistance.

BIRDSFOOT TREFOIL!

A new legume that should be included in all permanent pastures . . .

HERE'S WHY —

1. Stays green during hot summer months when most other legumes dry up and turn brown.
2. Lives longer in competition with grasses than do other legumes.
3. Does well on soils where other legumes will not survive a good thin-land legume.
4. It is nutritious, palatable and stands more abuse than other legumes.
5. The price is just one-half what it was last year —
